Engineered rubber products (ERP) market in North Africa plays a crucial role in various industries, ranging from construction to marine and infrastructure. With the rising number of construction and infrastructure projects taking place in North Africa, an increased demand for Engineered Rubber Products (ERP) is anticipated in the years ahead.

With the aim to assess the ERP market in Morocco, Egypt and Algeria, MRC is pleased to invite industry members to the upcoming seminar on Market Opportunity for Engineered Rubber Products (ERP) in North Africa, focusing on construction, infrastructure (with a specific emphasis on roads and railway development), and marine sectors. The webinar will unveil insights of engineered rubber products, specifically on dock fenders, structural bearings, railway products, and expansion joints. Participants can expect to gain valuable market intelligence on market size and trends of engineered rubber products, procurement practices and buying requirements, supply chain, and key players.

Don't miss this opportunity to learn about tariff and non-tariff barriers in importing ERP, as well as the way forward for Malaysian exporters in these significant sectors.
